Ironco Enterprises Participates in Sunland Elementary Memorial Project

PHOENIX, AZ May 6, 2007 – Ironco Enterprises, LLC, is pleased to announce the completion of the Sunland Elementary School signage project. Initiated by Mr. William Berchou, a Sunland art teacher for over 20 years, the project involved the volunteer efforts of students, staff, the Sunland PTSO and its neighbor, Ironco Enterprises. Mr. Berchou envisioned that this project would generate respect, pride and unity for Sunland School. Mr. Joe Banks, community liaison, coordinated Ironco's participation in the school and community project and attended the ceremony dedicating the project to Mr. Berchou.

Mr. Banks fabricated the lettering and the scorpion – the school mascot – on the sign. In the ceremony, Mr. Banks read the plaque dedicating the art project to Mr. Berhou in recognition of his role as an “outstanding, respected staff member, talented artist and friend to all.”

“We enjoy working in our neighborhood and especially with the local schools and the students on projects that enhance the community's appearance,” states Mr. Banks. “We have two elementary schools located within 14 blocks of our business, and we believe in being good neighbors.”

Ironco Enterprises, LLC, located at 331 East Broadway, participates in many neighborhood projects to enhance the community. The steel fabricating company has been in business for over 10 years and has erected many significant buildings in the Phoenix skyline including ASU dormitories, the Phoenix Civic Center and Hayden Ferry Landing in Tempe.
